

M. L. Ryder, Publications in Archaeological Textiles News and Textiles Magazine

Archaeological Textiles News

When did Wool Blending Begin? (1) 10-11 (1985). [Mary Rose]

Speeding-up Fibre Diameter Measurements by Computerisation. (2) 12-15 (1986).

Research interests. (7) 6 only (1988) (no month)

Fleece breakthroughs in 1990. (12) 13-15 (May 1991).

Weaving combs. (13) 11-12 (November, 1991).

What does the Frozen Man tell us about textiles? (15) 9-10 (Dec. 1992.)

The first find of palaeolithic stitching. (16) 4 only (June 1993)

Silk in Ancient Egypt. (16) 10-11 (June 1993).

Probable hemp in Bronze Age Scotland. (17) 10-13 (Nov. 1993)

An early European textile find from New Zealand. (18 & 19) 14-15 (Nov. 1994)

More on silk in ancient Egypt (18 & 19) p.23 only (Nov. 1994)

Goat fibres. (18 & 19) p.24 only (Nov. 1994).

New Light on the Origin of Longwools (20) 12-14 (Spring 1995).

More on "More on silk in ancient Egypt" (20) p.26 only (Spring 1995).

Correction [goat fibres] (18 & 19) p.24 only Errata (20) p.27

An Archaeological Experiment with Buried Textiles (24) pp. 8-11 (Spring 1997)

Fleece Types and Iron Age Textiles. (25) pp. 13-16 (Autumn 1997).

Camel and Yak Hair on the Silk Route. (26) pp. 20-21 (Spring 1998)

The wools used in the 19th Century Carpets made in Barnard Castle.
(27) pp. 3-5 (Autumn 1998).

A Cotton-like Fibre from Hallstatt. (28 p. 2 only (Spring 1999).

Report on the Fibres from a Tapestry in Saragossa Cathedral, Spain.
(28) pp. 3-5 (Spring 1999).

Fibre Analyses for the 21st Century I: The Possibilities and imitations of Chemical Analysis of Wool Remains. (29) pp.9-12 (Autumn 1999).
(30) pp. 16-17 (Spring 2000). Fibre Analyses for the 21st Century

II: Could a Method of Isotope Analysis be Applied to Wool in Textile Remains.

(30) p. 17 only (Spring 2000). More textiles preserved by salt.

(30) pp. 19-20 (Spring 2000). A Cotton-like Fibre from Hallstatt -
CORRECTION.

(31) pp. 2-7 (Autumn 2000). Issues in Conserving Archaeological Textiles.

(31) pp. 7-8 (Autumn 2000). Key for the Identification of Fleece Types from Wool Staple Form.

(32) pp. 7-10 (Spring 2001). Nineteenth-century Cashmere History repeated with Pashmina at the End of the Twentieth Century.

Textiles Magazine (published by the Textile Institute, Manchester)

6. ISSN 1367-1308

1997. Textiles Magazine 26 (1) 17-21. Silk - the Epitome of Luxury.

7. ISSN 1367-1308

1997. Textiles Magazine 26 (2) 15-21. Fleece evolution and textile crafts.

8. ISSN 1367-1308

1997. Textiles Magazine 26 (3) 23-24. Palms, Pearls and Pinnacles.

9. ISSN 1367-1308

1998. Textiles Magazine 27 (1) 9-11. Raising Teasels to Raise Cloth

10. ISSN 1367-1308

1998. Textiles Magazine 27 (2) 14-19. Wools used in Oriental - - - Carpets.

11. ISSN 1367-1308

1998. Textiles Magazine 27 (4) 14-15. Wool Grease.

12. ISSN 1367-1308

1999. Textiles Magazine 28 (2) 20-23. Can Spider Silk be used in Textiles?

13. ISSN 1367-1308

1999. Textiles Magazine 28 (3) 12-17. Felt - The Earliest Fabric.

14. ISSN 1367-1308

1999. Textiles Magazine 28 (4) 22-23. Investigating a Headband.

15. ISSN 1367-1308

2000. Textiles Magazine 29 (1) 18-19. Ancient Fibres from the Silk Route.

55. ISSN 1367-1308

2000. Textiles Magazine 29 (2) 11-18. The Silk Route.

68. ISSN 1367-1308

2000. Textiles Magazine 29 (3) 13-19. The Functional History of Clothing -1